MARRY AT ST. PAUL'S

WEDDING YESTERDAY OF MR. THIERMAN AND MISS TAYLOR,

LARGE AUDIENCE AT THE CHURCH. Ceremony Followed by Dinner at

The Jefferson-The Decorations Guests-Other Weddings Here.

The marriage of Mr. Anton Hofer Thierman and Miss Nannie Garland Taylor was solemnized at St. Paul's church yesterday afternoon, at half-past 5, the Rev. Hartley Carmichael officiating.

The chancel was exquisitely decorated with palms, silver candelabra with pink shades and candles, pink roses, carnatoins, and azaleas. Gates of smilax finished by profuse bouquets of carnations were held ajar by little Miss Eugenia Taylor, in pink chiffon over silk, and little Master Taylor Robertson, in a velvet suit with lace finish.

THE BRIDAL PARTY ENTERS. To Lohengrin's wedding march the procession was led by the ushers-Messrs. William P. Richardson, Farmville, Va., and Edward Richardson, E. Victor Willlams, and George E. Arents, New York; Misses Male Jordan, Ashland, Va., and Bernard Harvie; Messrs, Jackson Miller and W. G. Taylor, Jr.; Misses Agnes Edwards and Hailie Baker, Hallsboro'. Va.; Messrs, Lewis E. Paine and James P. Baker; Misses Willie Lonsdale, Wash-ington, D. C., and Bessle Matthews; Messrs, Richard Taylor and Thomas F.

Miss Kathleen de Graffenreid Taylor maid of honor, attired in an exquisite gown of pink mousseline de sole over gown of pink mousseline de soie over pink taffeta, with pearl trimmings, and carrying a bouquet of pink roses, preceded the bride, a lovely blonde, who entered with her father. The bridal robe of rich Duchess satin was finished on the corsage in elegant point d'Alencon, and the veil was fastened by a magnificent sunburst of diamonds. Her bouquet was lily of the valley and white orchids, and she looked very lovely and attractive as she was met at the altar by the groom, who entered from the vestry, attended who entered from the vestry, attended by his best man, Mr. Albert M. Young, of

New York.

The bridesmaids' costumes were lovely French organdie over pink taffeta, and they carried bouquets of bridesmaid roses and maiden-hair ferns.

A beautiful frosy-hued tableaux was presented during the ceremony, which was most impressively performed, and Mendelssohn's glad strains pealed forth as the bridal cortege retired down the aisle in reverse order of the entrance. The bride is the third daughter of Mr. William G. Taylor, of "Fonticeilo," Chesterfield county, and the groom, the adopted son of the late Major Lewis Ginter, and a prominent young business-

DINNER AT THE JEFFERSON. The bridal party and a small number of relatives were charmingly entertained by the bride's parents at "Fonticello" the evening before the wedding. After the ceremony a magnificent dinner was served at the Jefferson. The court and dising half were a bower of palms and pink and white azaleas. The table was set in the form of a T, being the initial letter of both names, and at each point were banks of pink roses and azaleas, fringed by maidenhair fern, the centre decoration by maidenhair fern, the centre decoration being pyramidal, with handsome pink ribbons festooned to the chandeller above. The name cards were exquisitely handpainted porcelain tablets in pink with gold letters, a real souvenir for each guest. The bridal pair occupied seats in the centre end of the T, and the opposite end was filled by the parents of the bride, Mr, and Mrs. W. G. Taylor, and the two side ends by the married sisters of the young couple and their husbands, Mr, and Mrs. E. R. Lafferty and Mr, and Mrs.

The rostrum of the church was banked with palms and ferns, and Easter lilles were arranged around the altar railings.

The church was not opened until short-y before the time for the ceremony to take place, but it filled rapidly, and by the time the wedding train arrived there was scarcely an available seat in the

The bride entered on the arm of the groom, Mr. Frank Cosby was the best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Robert Gemmell, Jr., brother of the groom, H. S. Wright, and Charles Harrell.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Tudor, assisted by Rev. J. Calvin Stewart. Mr. Shepherd Webb, the organ-ist, played the usual marches, and du-ring the ceremony De Koven's "O, Promise Me," together with a great va-ricty of other selections.

After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the Southern railway depot, where they took the train, with Baltimore as an objective point.

The bride is a native of Cumberland county, and is a daughter of Mr. Pleasant Richard Hazlegrove, one of the best-known and highly-respected citizens of that section of the State. Mr. Gemmell is a son of Mr. Robert Genmeil, formerly a resident of Hanover county, but for some years a citizen of Richmond. He came to Richmond some eight years ago, and engaged in business with the Craig Art Company.

Captain Graves Takes a Bride.

Right Rev. C. C. Penick, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church, performed the ceremony. The parlors and the hall leading to them were exquisitely decorated with palms and cut flowers, and were flooded. light of shaded candelabra.

The bride is an attractive and charming young lady, and is highly esteemed by a very large circle of friends. For many years Captain Graves has been master of the steamer Pocahontas, of the Virginia Navigation Company, and numbers his friends by the thousand. His courteous bearing always to those who entrust themselves to his care on his boat make him the friend of all who choose the popular James-River route. He is easily recognized as one of the most faithful, efficient, and capable pilots navigating the Virginia waters, and enjoys the reputation of being a man of high character and starling most and sterling worth.

Mr. Payne is manager for the T. C. Williams Tobacco Company, and is a young man of many excellent qualities, which have served to draw around him many warm friends, who now shout their congratulations to him as he launches in reality on life's waves. The many handsome presents received abundantly attest their popularity.

While complete and beautiful in every particular, the wedding was quiet, only the immediate relatives and intimate friends being present.

The Houchings-Bell Nuptials.

Mr. Bernard H. Houchings and Miss Cora L. Bell, two popular young people of Church Hill, were married at 9 o'clock last sevening at the residence of the bride's cousin, Mrs. J. B. Dickman, No. 509 north Twenty-seventh street, Rev. Preston Nash, of Christ Episcopal church, performing the ceremony. The following were the ushers: Messrs

Perkinson, Sherrill, Whalton of Peters-burg, and Conway Houchings, a brother of the groom, who acted as best man. The parlor where the ceremony was performed was decorated with palms and ferns. The bride was attired in white organdle and carried Marechai Neil roses. The bride is a much beloved young lady, and has the best wishes of many friends. Mr. Houchings is foreman of the trunk factory of H. W. Rountree & Brother, and possesses the esteem of all who know him. Mr. and Mrs. Houchings will reside on Venable street between Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth streets. Among the many presents received by the couple was a handsome toilet set given by the Young Ladies' Guild of Christ church, After the ceremony an elegant recep-tion was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Houchings at the residence from which they were married.

THE ALLAN-BENNETT NUPTIALS.

Wedding in Washington of a Well-Known Young Richmond Lawyer.

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 12 .-(Special.)-The marriage to-day at 4 o'clock of Mr. Edgar Allan, Jr., son of General Edgar Allan, and Miss Estelle Bennett, of Tacoma, Md., took place at the Pres-byterian chapel, Tacoma, and was quite a notable society event. The church was handsomely and artistically decorated with palms, ferns, potted plants, and ce-dars. Notwithstanding the inclement wea-ther, the sacred edifice was thronged with friends of the bridal couple. Some eight or ten carriage-loads of General Allan's friends left the city to attend the cerefriends left the city to attend the cere
